

Community governance

The Adlik Community functions as an open source Project, with a set of rules and leaders elected and approved from within the participants of the project. This page serves as a summary of the community governance, see Adlik Technical Charter to find the mission, scope, and key provisions of the Project.